STEVE SHAMBECK, P.L.S. RECEIVES LEADERSHIP AWARD

IRVINE, Calif., August 23, 2004 — Steve Shambeck, P.L.S. of Hall and Foreman, Inc. (HFI) was recently awarded the 2004 Inland Empire Leaders of Distinction Award – private category. The Business Press, a weekly Press Enterprise Newspaper, recognizes outstanding men and women in the Inland Empire business community. The private leadership category nominees were judged on how the candidate had influence in the success of the organization, and how the candidate affected the personal growth of the company's employees.

Mr. Shambeck serves as the Vice President of the Surveying and Mapping Department for HFI. He was nominated as a leader of distinction by his colleagues, who value his honesty and open communication style. Mr. Shambeck has over 20 years of surveying, mapping, and land development experience in Southern California. He has earned a reputation for quality right-of-way mapping, boundary resolutions, ALTA surveys coordination, and innovative mapping solutions and now is honored for his communication and leadership skills. Mr. Shambeck's management and interpersonal skills are exemplary both in the field and in the office.

Recipients of the leadership award select a charity of choice to receive $1,000, Mr. Shambeck chose HomeAid, Inland Empire chapter. HomeAid is a non-profit organization of the Building Industry Association dedicated to building shelters for the temporarily homeless in local communities.
